The Wine - It Flowed; The Moon - It Glowed - by Eu Beale

The first official meeting of the club's fall season - Saturday, September 20th - was a glorious success. Sixty PVSers and guests gathered for what has become an annual event: wine tasting , cheese nibbling and conviviality, hosted by Mary and Norm Engleman at their beautiful - and freshly painted home (for the occasion?) - in Potomac. Md.

This year, for a change, the weather cooperated and the affair was held on the Engleman's enormous patio where strings of mikado lights and flaming torches and a three-quarter moon sailing overhead added to the festive atmosphere.

Don and Pat Cope chose the superb wines (7) and cheeses (3) which guests needed no encouragement to sip, sample, and judge. Although, as participants proceeded from wines #I through #7, there was some lessening in taste acuity, the connoiseur and the not-so-connoiseur agreed the Cope choices were splendid.

No cheese was left over and only a few bottles of wine. Happy stragglers lingered until near 12:30 and helped the Englemans turn out the lights as even the moon began to drop over the yardarm. Many thanks to the Copes and to the Englemans for another sensational PVS event.

The Long and Short Of It by Bob Marx

Dot and Jenckes Mason provided the grandest day since spring for their hike to Signal Knob in the Masanuttens. They were joined by 30 PVSers and friends on a trek that provided options for the hardy and the foolbardy. The hardy folks went about 8.5 miles; the foolbardy went 10.5 on a trail that went all the way down, back up, and back down again. (Strangely, several of the crazies beat the lazies back to the parking lot.)

The lunch stop at the Knob was the "high" point of the day and the prize for most Lucullan lunch was awarded to Jack Lilly (half a chicken, a 3-foot loaf of French bread, a whole salami, a small wheel of cheese, a jar of mustard, and a bota of wine.)

At the end of the trail, cold beer eased everyone's aches and pains and, after health was more or less restored, the group proceeded by cars to the Mason's lovely mountain retreat on the far side of Front Royal.

Here the outstanding day was climaxed by an outstanding array of dishes prepared entirely by Dorothy days before and ready for serving shortly after our arrival. Although the cook herself was among the trail-sore, she laid out a feast of barbeque beef, summer squash and corn bread stuffing caserole, coleslaw, tomatoes and Yankee Doodle Apple Pie cake a la mode.

A special salute to the Masons for the hike, feast, and

THE KNEE

Ъy

Ray McKinley

It's that kneet time of year -(finally). Fall is here and, with that, can winter be far behind? I just finished reading an article in Ski Magazine describing Aspen's greatest skiing day and awakening to 16 inches of fresh powder. As the writer describes it: "Clumps of snow lay precariously on the limbs of evergreens and every so often sifted down in a long stream, fine as gold dust." Winter. It sends shivers down your back.

Anyway, back to reality and the happenings in Washington, D.C. (where, by the way, winter's image is more slush, ice, and 2 hours to get to work).

Mort Kuff, I understand you missed a really interesting meeting of the Cook Book committee at Bette Walker's. Were you Mortified? After the meeting, Bette showed everyone the nude men she keeps in her bath-room. Really!

The Knee has a theory that the PVS Cook Book will never be. The committee has been meeting now for approximately 18 years and no output. In part, this is because Gerry Deighton has yet to submit a recipe. The heard that not one of the committee can cook a decent book well done, let alone medium rare.

Club Secretary Alice Swalm had so many visitors this summer she developed an infected foot and missed the Mason's great hike, Sept 27th. (We ought to do another hike before it's too late this fall.)

Jim Slack and Mary Ward are just back from the Mississippi Gulf coast. Mary, is it true that, while you were down there, the toast was hit by a hisacane?

Only one additional SCWB6 joke: Do you know what an SCWDCer's idea of a "10" is? Three threes.

News from PVSers from far away:
Bill Hager noted, from Manila, that he had a ball at the Steak and Swim.
And that he came the furthest of anyone to that event - 12,00 miles!

The Wiederholds are now in Texas.

Penny notes that Mike is being kept busy restoring their newly purchased Victorian house. ExTOOT Editor Judy Mealey reports that her Mike is enjoying his new job and that ski clubs in Pennsylvania are mostly singles meeting clubs not ski clubs. Except for PVS, it's true in Washington, too, Judy.

I understand Bob Gell has just remarried and that it's now Bob and Bobbie Gell. Congrats! I guess we've just created the BeeGees.

At a recent meeting, Larry Pease and Bob Gell were talking about Olin Mark IV skies , discussing coming down very steep slopes. Larry noted that they made turning on such slopes much easier. "Turning???" replied Bob.

The Knee just received a letter inviting me to become a charter subscriber to a new Washington based magazine devoted to the outdoors. It's called "Country." letter describes all the wooderful articles they would have, including one by PVSer Ron Fett on skiing in West Virginia. I subscribed immed-= iately. It's the least I can do. Ron stays in PVS just to read the Knee. The last time anyone saw him was the PVS 10th anniversary party. Maybe we'll see him at the 15th in November A few weekends ago, what I'll call a PVS rump group got together for a 20 mile bike hike. The group consisted of The ma Belloli Ginny Lawson, Malle MacKinley, Mike Rysavy, Alice Swalm and the Knee.

We had a picnic near Great Falls and, the next day, very sore as—— er— muscles. Further trips are planned. If interested, call Thelma.

The Wine and Cheese at Engleman's was a great evening. It was our first meeting in Maryland in years when it didn't rain.

The special of went place solved

Several PVSers were there without their spouses. Rosy Soler was just back from Florida with a magnificent suntan. Hank Thomas also started the evening as a single until Joan Flake arrived. Telling old ski stories, they said. (There go two marriages!)

ExComer Jean Heitchue almost didn't make it to the wine tasting. Seems she got blocked into the fenced dirt bike trail at Reston and almost ended up spending the night there.

Finally, I have a cost saving suggestion for Bob Marx who works for the Census Bureau:
Next census, why don't you just count half the people in the U.S. and multiply your answer by two?

TOOT LATE NEWS BREAKS

Mike Santoro picked up a lst place tennis trophy as winner of the Arlington Open Men's 45 Singles Tournament, which was open to Northern Virginia residents 45 years of age and older.

In the finals, he defeated John Lamothe, tennis pro at Ft. Belvoir, in 3 sets: 3-6,6-3,6-2. The tournament was held at Bluemont Park Sept. 6 - 14, 1980.

Angela Kuff and her sister are starting a little used-cloth-ing store on Wisconsin Avenue ealled "Unforgetable". It will specialize in clothes of the 20's through the 40's.
